Moms on Call Safe Sleep Environment

A complete roadmap to the safe sleep
environment

It Starts with Sleep

You both need it.

Babies learn by association and routine, so giving them a boring sleep environment helps them to do just that—sleep! You can still curate a beautiful space for the baby.

Hey there!

"Every day as pediatric nurses, we used to take after-hours patient calls for a busy pediatric practice in Atlanta. Meaning that if any of the 9,000 patients had a question at night or on weekends, we got paged. For years, we answered questions from concerned parents who, interestingly, all had the same questions! We decided it was time to give parents a simple and easy-to-follow guide addressing their most common curiosities and concerns.

This was so well received that our print-outs quickly grew into a library of resources, including three books, four video courses, two apps, and a flourishing network of consultants. Moms on Call is amazed to say that our resources have helped over 1 million moms and dads worldwide parent with confidence as they discover the joys of the first four years. And we are thrilled to introduce you to the team that makes this magic happen!" .

The Crib

We heard it too many times: “Babies don’t come with an instruction manual.” Instead of taking the old cliché at its word, we asked, “Why not?”

We recommend that the baby sleeps in a crib in their own room or a bassinet/crib in your room.

We know that babies can develop great sleeping habits in any room. You are the parent, and you choose where your baby sleeps. We are simply providing the tips that work best with the Moms on Call method!

The crib should be less than 5 years old.

Purchase a new mattress if possible.

Not only does it ensure the mattress is sanitary, but you also won’t have to worry about how it was previously used or stored.

One exception to the rule: if you buy a new mattress for your first child, store it in a storage bag to keep it clean and dry. Then you can use it for your next child!

Finding the right mattress:

Are there any cushioning layers? What materials are used? Is there a flammability barrier? Is there waterproof backing? Can it be used in the future for your growing baby? There’s much more to a mattress than just a cute cover.

Find a safe, durable mattress cover

Use a tight, fitted crib sheet.

Keep the crib free of all stimulation.

There should not be any pillows, stuffed animals, loose blankets, or interactive toys (including mobiles) in or near the crib.

That cute mobile can be hung over the dresser, and the perfectly chosen pillows, stuffed animals, and blankets can be placed on the floor or in a decorative basket.

If you choose to have a crib bumper, we recommend a thin mesh breathable bumper.

White Noise

White noise is reminiscent of the noise babies hear inside the womb.

Get a white noise machine

The white noise machine is kept on all night long.

Turn it up! This should be loud enough for you to hear on the other side of the door.

Keep the sound machine a safe 12-24 inches from the head of the crib.

Be sure all cords are not accessible to the crib/bed

Lighting and Temperature

At night, keep the room pitch black.

Black out shades are wonderful for this!

During nap time, you can keep the window blinds left open, or a lamp can be left on.

Babies' bodies naturally regulate with light; they will associate night with darkness and naptime with daylight.

Keep the room temp at a cool 68-72°F.

Babies sleep best in cool temps!
